

Michelle Pabarcus - Design Solutions

Cost: Over £15,000

Michelle's clients wanted to transform their London flat but rather than go for a contemporary look they wanted lots of detail in the 17th century French style they loved. The entire first floor was to serve as the master bedroom suite with two bathrooms - his and hers - linked through the bedroom.

The result is a stylish tribute to the period but underlying it is an impressive project management and installation job. This involved re-arranging the layout of the whole floor.

What Michelle says:

"I was able to maximise the interior space and create something that is unique, beautiful, efficient, and practical. This reflects not only the owner's needs and desires but also the ambience and the attention to detail that the rest of the flat now has. The space began as one and became two, and each bathroom has its own identity."

What the judges say:

"It's great to see a new project that embraces a traditional style in such an impressive way."
